A WORD FROM STAFF: Vivian Ward

End of spring semester, is that you?! As you prepare for your last round of finals for the semester and begin your summer journeys, I want to encourage you all to be open and ready when opportunities arise. Opportunities don't always show up loud and obvious. Sometimes you have to be still and listen for the whispers in order to hear the universe conspiring to make your dreams come true. It is my opinion that everything happens for a reason. So be the good, do the good, and spread the good. Wishing you all well on your finals and may your summers bring you everything you need.
